Personalized Treatment

In the comfort of our infusion suite, we do all we can to make your treatment time as easy as possible.

At your first appointment, you will be assigned to a private room for comfort as you become familiar with the infusion process. For the first 15 minutes of your appointment, a nurse will accompany you to ensure your comfort and address any questions.

While you are receiving infusion, we will bring you everything you need. If you feel cold, blankets and shawls are available. We also offer numerous support services including massage therapy, social workers, clergy, art and music therapy, and practitioners of meditation and guided imagery. Services are available routinely or upon request during your treatment session. We also offer acupuncture or acupressure in a private space just off the infusion center. At the end of each session, a staff member can walk you to your car—we offer valet parking—or a taxi.

The day after you receive your first infusion, expect a follow-up call from one of our nurses.

What to expect when you arrive

1. Provide your name to security at check-in.
2. We request that you then check in with registration after security check point each time you visit.
3. If required by your physician, blood samples will be drawn by a skilled phlebotomist. Check in with laboratory services if this is needed.
4. Check into the infusion suite.
5. Following check in, you will be greeted and seated by a medical assistant who will check your vital signs, height, and weight.
6. A nurse will see you, check your lab work (if needed) and call in your medication to our on-site pharmacy. He or she will access your vein. When your medications are ready, your infusion will begin.
7. At the completion of your treatment, we ask that you stop at the desk to check out and make your next appointment, if applicable.

A few things to note during your treatment

- Depending on the length of your treatment and availability, we will accommodate your needs to a bedroom or chair.
