We would like to welcome you to the Dubin Breast Center at Mount Sinai.

This extraordinary facility provides a seamless, supportive and multidisciplinary approach to breast cancer care. Your care will be provided by a group of outstanding physicians and health care practitioners providing comprehensive care in prevention, genetics, diagnosis, treatment and survivorship. In addition, there are nutritional and psychological services, social workers as well integrative medicine such as acupuncture, massage and yoga. Finally, there are clinical trials that seek to evaluate new treatments or approaches so that we can continually make improvements on today's best treatments.

We have developed a Cancer Risk Evaluation (CaRE) Program, for women who have never had breast cancer but are at increased risk for developing breast cancer due to their family history or other factors. The CaRE program provides guidance and surveillance with the goal of early detection of breast cancer, and counseling regarding options for prevention and risk reduction.

As part of our Survivorship Program, there are primary care physicians with special expertise in breast cancer embedded right in our practices. These physicians may assist in your survivorship care.

Mount Sinai and the Dubin Breast Center strive to deliver outstanding, compassionate and personalized care. We hope you will agree that your experience supports your treatment, recovery and your path to optimal health and wellness.
